ZEV Study Comes to a Close...

Hatch Final Presentation

Two weeks ago, Hatch came to the Hyannis Transportation Center to deliver a Final Presentation on CCRTA's "Zero-Emission Vehicle Transition Plan & Regional Support Study". It is hard to believe that the 10-month study has now come to a close!

As you well know, CCRTA worked closely with the zero-emission vehicle (ZEV) consulting firm, Hatch Associates Consultants, to study Cape Cod's unique needs to transition to electric vehicles (EVs). Through complex analyses, simulations, and site visits, Hatch produced over 10 deliverables to educate and guide CCRTA on this crucial and complex transition to EVs.

Hatch's Final Presentation was a review of the project over-all and the transition plan itself. A recording of the presentation can be found above as well as on the 'ZEV Journey' page of our website.

The video includes a welcome from CCRTA administrator, Tom Cahir, Presentation from Hatch, and then a Q&A session.

We hope you find the presentation engaging and informative!

Recommended Fleet Transition Plan

In addition to their Final Presentation, Hatch has also submitted their final deliverable: the Transition Plan.

As CCRTA moves ahead toward fleet electrification, the Transition Plan provides a strategy for CCRTA that considers Cape Cod's unique needs. The Plan summarizes a fleet management plan, policy impacts, facility plans, utility partnerships, workforce development needs, and more, all determined by Hatch's analysis.

What's Next for the Newsletter?

This newsletter was created for the purpose of sharing deliverables and lessons-learned from the Hatch ZEV Study, but now that the study is complete, what does that mean for the newsletter?

Here, at CCRTA, we think we should keep it going! The ZEV Study propelled CCRTA forward in our ZEV Journey, but the journey certainly continues on after the study. We're planning to continue the newsletter with CCRTA ZEV updates and opportunities for shared learning and collaboration.

We certainly hope you continue to come along with us!
